Office Bearers Report

2018/2019 has been a busy and productive year for ALGA and having settled into our space at Thorne Harbour Health we have continued to provide an incredible resource for the community, researchers, historians, artists, filmmakers, musicians and many more.

After the 2018 AGM we continued to celebrate the significant achievement of our 40th Anniversary and at our conference Queer Legacies, New Solidarities, we made a point of cutting cake to celebrate. The conference was a great achievement and a highlight being a keynote by our patron Joan Nestle whose insight and words continue to inspire.

We worked with facilitator Kate Richardson to develop a 3-5 year strategic plan (attached) to guide us through the next few years, 2019-2021 – working across the three key strategic goals of – Collection Management, Organisational Sustainability and Community and Stakeholder Engagement.

At the 2018 AGM we also outlined our commitment to initiating a name change consultation to gauge the community's interest in the possibility of developing new name for the Australian Lesbian and Gay Archives. We then engaged with the community on a number of different levels and have been incredibly impressed by the level of feedback and number of people interested in the consultation. The overview of the consultation is provided below. After reviewing all the feedback, the community has responded in support of a name change and the Committee is 100% behind the next stage in the process – to find a new name for the Archives.

Through the support of a project grant from the Equality Department we were able to engage an office coordinator for 6 months. Kerry Harris joined us and has been instrumental in providing a high-level of administrative support and initiated a number of key procedural improvements for ALGA. Kerry embraced our organisation and we were incredibly lucky for her expertise. With Kerry's input, we were also able to secure another project grant from the department to further digitise parts of our collections and rework our website.

A highlight of the last 12 months was being invited by Australia House in London, as part of London Pride in June, to create a gallery of images from our collection that were exhibited on the exterior of the embassy for the week of London Pride. The 500+ reception, a joint celebration of the Sydney Gay & Lesbian Mardi Gras World Pride bid, London Pride and ALGA was also held at the embassy and attended by Angela, Clare and Nick.

In June/July, Committee members Angela, Tim, Graham, Clare, Nick and Richard were in attendance and presented papers and panels at the Queering Memory - LGBTQ Archives, Libraries, Museums and Special Collections (ALMS) Conference in Berlin. The conference was a great opportunity to discuss current trends and compare queer archives with organisations from across the globe (all Committee members self-funded the trip).

Our collection continues to grow and develop into a significant resource – which, as always, presents us with challenges moving into the future. We continue to work with the Victorian Pride Centre in negotiating key tenancy at the Centre and look forward to this in the near future.

The Archives continue to support and engage with our communities and build our collection of rich histories for now and in the future. In the next 12 months we'll be working on our name change, rolling out a philanthropy program, continuing our digitisation program, revamping our website and looking to invest in a catalogue database system. A huge thank you to all our supporters, volunteers and members who keep us moving forward. Thanks also to Thorne Harbour Health for providing the office space and reading room at their premises.

Congratulations also to Graham Willett on his life membership of the Archives. He continues to be an integral part of this organisation and this recognition is incredibly well deserved.

The key identified major projects of 2018/2019 were:

- Name Change Consultation
- Victorian Pride Centre negotiation
- GALE
- Strategic Plan (inc)

Name Change Consultation

At the 2018 AGM we outlined our commitment to initiating a name change consultation for the organisation. We are incredibly happy with all the responses to our various levels of engagement – including:

- Information available at Midsumma Carnival 2019
- Media releases
- Social Media
- Interviews with key ALGA supports/members
- On-line survey (Open April-Sept, 465 surveys completed)
- Facilitated group sessions
- Follow up phone calls/emails with those requesting contact

We were overwhelmed by the level of interest, passion and support for the Archives and through these responses and conversation are confident we can move this process forward.

Initially Committee members discussed the consultation with key stakeholders and members to talk through the process of consultation and hear feedback. We then created an on-line survey and over a period of 5 months, collected approx. 450 completed surveys. The survey asked 8 questions with the initial response to the first question – Do you think the Archives should change its name? was 66.44% in favour and 33.56% disagreed.

The other questions were more open-ended in nature and asked:

- What do you like/dislike about the name? (441 responses)
- What would you like to retain in the current name? (430 responses)
- What do you imagine a new name could be? (420 responses)

The remaining questions were: How do you identify your gender/sexuality?; Age Group?; Would you like to be involved in a focus group to further discuss?

We then contacted everyone who had expressed interest in being part of group 'Discussion Forums'. We also advertised these sessions to our members and announcements list. Although 180 people expressed interest in attending a group session – actual rsvps were only about 25. Two 'Discussion Forums' were then held and facilitated by Kate Richardson. The sessions were an opportunity to discuss with others and consider what the priorities were for change and a new name. Conversations were respectful and responses were recorded. Overall the discussion forum responses and feedback mirrored the on-line surveys.

We had hoped to be able to present a new name for approval at the AGM but realise this takes more time than we anticipated – what we can present is the results and overview of this consultation and with the full support of the ALGA Committee move forward in support of a name change. In the coming months we will now embark on developing a name for the Archives that considers our legacy, community and future. Through more consultation we will then take a name to a special meeting of members in early 2020.

Victorian Pride Centre

Following on from our MOU with VPC (signed in June 2018) we have continued to work with the VPC and its staff in anticipation of our move to the Pride Centre in 2020. We have also provided other support to the VPC with letters of support for them in their funding initiatives, images for Architectural mock-ups. Committee members have also continued to be involved in discussion with the VPC architects in the design requirements of our space at the Centre. We are currently in negotiations with the VPC in relation to the 'Offer to Lease' - the next step in securing our move to the Centre.

GALE

The Archives' involvement in GALE's Archives of Sexuality and Gender [www.gale.com/uk/primarysources/archives-of-sexuality-and-gender] has progressed significantly during 2019. While digitisation was delayed from our initial intended start date of early 2019, our first batch of periodical titles was sent to the digitisation company DatacomIT on 30 July. To date, three batches of titles have been sent for digitisation, comprising 66 titles and approximately 160,000 pages, with the remaining titles will be digitised over the coming months.

As identified in our 2017-2018 Annual Report, once completed the digitised titles will be text searchable for free to members of the public via a number of Australian and international research libraries as well as available onsite in the ALGA Reading Room – significantly enhancing access to our unparalleled holdings. The royalties paid to ALGA over the next five years under this arrangement will greatly assist us with the many pressing expenses that we have and allow for the expansion of our activities.

Committee

The Committee currently has 9 active members – all of which are the same as those nominated at the 2018 AGM. We continue to meet monthly and have a number of sub-committees for various projects. Continued thanks go also to Gary Jaynes for his honorary bookkeeping of the organisation. Thanks also to the contribution of Trevor Sutherland in managing the membership and annual membership drive. Thanks to Bruce Dixon for his assistance with membership.

Administration

The administration of the organisation continues to be done by committee and key volunteers and has been assisted by the short-term engagement of office coordinator Kerry Harris who, in consultation with the committee and Gary Jaynes initiated and restructured a number of administrative procedures including:

- Creating a new Administration filing system, updated a range of forms and documented key procedures
- Creating a Committee Annual Workplan
- Re-designed meeting agenda's and minutes template for ease of use
- Re-organisation of the Acquisitions register to enable quick and easy access to historical and current acquisition information. Many thanks to Bruce Dixon for volunteering his time to this project.
- Assisted with the Digitisation grant application which was successful in obtaining $38,048 in funding
- Establishing the Financial Framework Working Group which resulted in:
- Formation of a Finance Sub-Committee - appointment of bookkeeper, new chart of accounts structure and development of a 2019-20 Budget

ALGA Finance Sub-Committee

In February 2019 the ALGA Committee decided to constitute a finance sub-committee to oversee ALGA's financial operations in detail, reporting to the ALGA Committee, but relieving it of the business of day to day operations. The subcommittee meets at least quarterly and is formed of the treasurer and vice-president ex officio (Graham Willett and Tim Jones), and two ALGA volunteers (currently Gary Jaynes and Darren Williamson). It is supported by Kerry Harris, who has been employed as our bookkeeper.

The finance committee has prepared an annual budget, chart of accounts and drafted finance related policy statements for the ALGA committee's approval. Kerry has transferred ALGAs accounting procedures into industry standard formats.

We're pleased with the new structure's efficiency, transparency and accountability, which put ALGA in a strong position to face the significant financial challenges and opportunities which are arising in the near future. Many thanks to Kerry for assisting with these changes.

ALGA wishes to take this opportunity to express our deep and enduring gratitude to Gary Jaynes for managing the complex bookkeeping of the organisation in a volunteer capacity for so many years.

Research and Volunteer Activities

Nick coordinated Monday and Tuesday evening access for researchers and volunteers and some offsite volunteers, and Graham has been coordinating Friday access. Volunteer projects have included:

- Ulo: undertook a range of collection development and acquisition support in Sydney
- Hannah: oral history transcription
- Marlo: ephemera record enhancement and zine cataloguing
- Wren: poster cataloguing
- Paul: photographic collection rehousing and cataloguing, preparing periodicals for digitisation
- Brett: periodical cataloguing and record enhancement;
- Nick: accessioning and archival processing
- Jono: t-shirts cataloguing
- Cheralyn: oral history transcription
- Shara and Kai: theatre programs and ephemera cataloguing
- Madison: t-shirts cataloguing
- Sam: summarising radio programs
- Ardy: indexing of Lesbiana

Friday volunteers have been working their way through the backlog of various parts of the collection: badges, t-shirts, ephemera, textiles and so on. We are very grateful for their efforts and Lee has continued his off-site periodicals indexing, for the past year on a select index of DNA (first 28 issues) and fiction in Gay Community News/OutRage. Lee's indexing work began in 2007, and spans 13 periodicals from the 1970s to the 90s, more than 12,000 records.

Membership

There were 371 financial members of ALGA in 2018-19, exceeding the previous high of 345 in 2017-18. It took thirty years for ALGA's membership to exceed 100 (111 in 2007-08) and has since more than trebled.

91 of last year's members did not renew (26%), more than offset by 99 new members and 18 renewals of members who had lapsed at least one year. The attrition rate has been fairly constant around 25% for the past four years (25% in 2017-18 and 2016-17, 26% in 2015-16, 25% in 2014-15).

66% of the 91 members who did not renew in 2018-19 joined within the previous two years (the comparable figure in 2018 was 76% and in 2017 was 70%).

First year a member	No. not renewed	%
Pre 1996-97	1	1%
2001-02	1	1%
2007-08	1	1%
2009-10	2	2%
2010-11	1	1%

2011-12	2	2%
2012-13	2	2%
2013-14	4	4%
2014-15	7	8%
2015-16	10	11%
2016-17	8	9%
2017-18	52	57%
Total	91	100%

On past trends, we would expect about 20% of the 91 non-renewing members to rejoin. Of the 18 people who renewed 2018-19 having lapsed a year or more, 9 had joined in the previous four years.

This year the proportion of members from outside Victoria was 34%, down from last year's 38%. Membership by state of home address over the past four years is as follows:

	2018-19 nos	%	2017-18 nos	%	2016-17 nos	%	2015-16 nos	%
ACT	10	3%	10	3%	6	2%	7	3%

Grand Total	371	100%	345	100%	270	100%	257	100%

The use of Register Now as a payment system and database for ALGA membership continues to be well supported (92% of memberships). 178 of this year's 371 members also donated to ALGA (48%, same as in 2017-18), mostly via Register Now. Some donors of larger amounts kindly donated by direct credit to minimise fees charged to ALGA.

Project Monte

Project Monte is ALGA's project to enable the collection catalogue to be managed and searched online. The project has continued in 2019, however progress has been slower than expected as a consequence of key members' personal circumstances limiting their availability, however, we have recently had a new member with a background in both information technology and archives join the team, who we hope will provide valuable skills. The team is made up of volunteers and the project has not incurred any financial cost to ALGA in financial year 2018-19.

In June this year project leader Richard Keeble presented the paper Opening up to the world: Moving to a web-based collection management system at the Berlin ALMS (Archives Libraries, Museums and Special Collections) conference. This paper described the process that has been used for Project Monte and Richard received a significant amount of positive feedback from attendees from other LGBTI archives. A long form version of the paper can be found on the ALGA website at <http://alga.org.au/files/Richard-Keeble-Opening-up-to-the-world.pdf>.

Richard and the team have also completed a formal system requirements document which will enable the selection of an appropriate system. The pilot Omeka system is still available online, however it has become clear that it does not fulfil all of the requirements for ALGA's collection management system. Either requirements will need to be scaled back or another system chosen. In the meantime Omeka will remain available until a new system is selected and commissioned.

Attendance at the conference led to the identification of a number of collection management systems not previously known to the team. These were incorporated into an overall list of twenty-five different catalogue systems which have now been identified and reviewed. A short list is being developed and initial approaches have been made to vendors for cost estimates and capabilities of their systems. These and potentially other systems will be reviewed in more detail by the team and the ALGA committee before a system is selected.

The data cleanse process has continued with the Oral History metadata having been prepared for a new system. Newspaper clippings, photographs and audio-visual material are still to be cleansed, acquisition information extracted and consolidated, and many loose ends need to be tied up to complete the data cleanse. Additional data transformation will be required prior to upload into a new system.

At the current rate of progress, at least another twelve months will be required until the project is complete.

Conference 2018

From 21-24 November, the 2018 instalment in ALGA's conference series was held at Deakin Downtown and the State Library of Victoria in Melbourne under the theme "Queer Legacies, New Solidarities". Celebrating ALGA's 40th anniversary, the conference was organised by Deakin's new Gender and Sexuality Studies Research Network (conference co-convenors: Daniel Marshall, Ann Vickery and Emma Whatman), and brought together, for the first time, ALGA and the Australian Women's and Gender Studies Association. With over 200 registrations from around the country, the conference featured over twenty panels, a pre-conference postgrad workshop, poetry readings, welcome and closing receptions and two keynote presentations – the first by Anjali Arondekar (Associate Professor of Feminist Studies, UC Santa Cruz) and the second by ALGA patron and author Joan Nestle. The conference was supported by a grant from the Ian Potter Foundation. In addition to these highlights, we receive a regular stream of small donations of books, badges, posters, ephemera and t-shirts. WWII', includes reproductions of archival photos, objects and documents of current and former service personnel, exploring how LGBTI Defence members navigated their lives in the defence forces. Drawing on almost 150 oral history interviews, now preserved in the Archives, the exhibition was curated by the Archives' Dr Graham Willett, along with Drs Shirleene Robinson and Noah Riseman. The exhibition was launched in Melbourne in 2018, before touring to Sydney.

- A City Responds to Crisis: Volunteers and the HIV/AIDS Epidemic in Sydney 1980s-1990s (<https://acityrespondstocrisis.com/>) This new online exhibition honours and celebrates the selfless contributions of volunteers and the role they played in the early years of the HIV/AIDS epidemic in Sydney. This exhibition complements the earlier physical exhibition of the same name curated by Dr. Shirleene Robinson, shown at Sydney's M2 Gallery from 29 November to 11 December 2018. These exhibitions draw on a collection of over 60 oral history interviews (recorded between 2016-2018) as well as rich archival material, including material from the Archives, to share the stories of the volunteer-driven efforts to respond to crisis during the HIV and AIDS epidemic.

ALGA operates on a cash accounting basis.

ALGA has five bank accounts, all with Commonwealth Bank Australia: the Gift account, where all tax deductible donations are deposited (an Australian Tax Office requirement); the Ordinary account, where other income is received, and where all operating expenses occur; an Online saver a/c where funds that are not needed for immediate operating purposes are transferred (enabling a slightly higher interest rate return); a term deposit account where funds not needed in the medium term draw a higher rate of interest; and a business debit card with a limit of $500.

Two term deposit accounts were closed at maturity during 2018-19, and a single term deposit account opened which will mature in August 2019. Details of these are in Appendix A.

All expenditure against ALGA's accounts require authorisation by two people of five nominated by the committee, with report back to the committee on a regular basis (usually monthly, sometimes bi-monthly).

A finance sub-committee was formed this year to oversee ALGA's finances and formulate budget and policy recommendations to the committee, meeting at least quarterly. The sub-committee comprises the vice-president (chair), treasurer, an ALGA volunteer and a person with accounting expertise. The sub-committee's recommendations to date, adopted by the committee, have included policies on conflict of interest and financial delegations, and the appointment of a part-time bookkeeper in 2019-20.

As a registered charity, ALGA reports annually to the Australian Charities and Not-For-Profits Commission (ACNC). Details of aggregate income and expenditure across ALGA's accounts, along with pre-commitments and comparisons with the previous financial year, are shown in Appendix A.

INCOME

Total income was $286,462.86 of which $197,602.76 was the balance of a bequest from the Estate of Graham Carbery. This supplemented the first instalment in 2017-18 of $60,000 of a generous bequest by the Archives' founder.

A $38,048 grant was received from the Victorian Government's LGBTIQ Community Grants program 201920 for a digitisation project (details elsewhere in the annual report). This is a pre-commitment against 2019-20.

Donations contributed $23,906.22 from 224 separate donations, this was down from $28,380.18 (253 separate donations) last year where donations income was boosted by $5,425 from 35 specific purpose donations towards purchase of a special collection from the Sydney Morning Herald photographic archive on sex, sexuality and gender.

See list of donors below. The spread of donations in 2018-19 is shown below.

Donations 2018-19
	Number of donations	$	Average	% of total donations
0 to $20	95	$1,377.50	$14.50	6%
$21 to $50	64	$2,380.00	$37.19	10%
$51 to $100	30	$2,940.00	$98.00	12%
$101 to $500	27	$7,236.72	$268.03	30%
$501 to $1000	5	$4,716.00	$943.20	20%
Over $1000	3	$5,256.00	$1,752.00	22%
	224	$23,906.22	$106.72	100%

The median donation (50% of donors gave more, 50% less) was just below $25. The mean donation ($107) was slightly lower than last year's mean of $112.

Nearly half of ALGA's members donated when renewing or joining in 201819, accounting for $16,964 (71%) of donation income, about the same proportion as last year.

Membership numbers (371) and fee revenue ($5,975) were new highs, up from 345 and $5,111 last year.

Membership continues to contribute significantly to the Archives' financial position both directly through membership fees and indirectly through donations. The chart on the next page illustrates a rough correlation between the two.

Register Now changed its fee structure effective 1 July 2018, reducing the average amount deducted from donations given via this platform. The fee is capped at $10, making donation via Register Now a more attractive option for people making larger donations.

Note - there was single donation of $15K from Broadtree Foundation in 2016-17, $10K from VicBears in 2010-11 and $10K from a member in 2007-08.

Other income sources

The Archives received $10,640 as a charitable beneficiary of St Albans Bingo Centre. We are most grateful to the Martini family for their continuing support, which has contributed more than $26K since beginning in 2015.

Bank interest was $3,709 of which $3348 came from term deposit interest. Despite interest rates being at record lows, interest is emerging as a significant income source, largely enabled by Graham Carbery's bequest and savings over a long period.

Sales of publications contributed $3107, of which $2,153 came from sales of Secret histories of queer Melbourne, which was reprinted the previous year.

EXPENDITURE

This year's annual expenditure of $52,382 is down on last year's $94,220, which was abnormally high because of costs associated with relocation and expenditure of a grant for digitisation of Digby Duncan's 1980 film, Witches and faggots, poofsters and dykes.

There were two main expenditures this year:

$19,389 payroll expenses from the $27.5K unexpended portion of a relocation grant the previous year, carry-forward approved by Victorian Government for a six-month office coordinator contract position and business consulting to assist ALGA with philanthropic fundraising (the balance of the $27.5K is a pre-commitment for 2019-20)

$17,298 on commercial storage, necessary pending the relocation in 2020 to the Victorian Pride Centre (although there will still be off-site storage required for disaster recovery purposes)

General operating expenses totalled $15,694 and the larger ones of these were:

$2,220 on archival supplies

$2,090 on insurances (two new policies are for Association Liability and Voluntary Workers Insurance, in addition to Public Liability)

$1,670 audiovisual expenses for digitisation of selected audio-cassettes and videotaped collection material

$1,295 on event expenses (Midsumma Carnival, history walk, Mardi Gras Fair Day etc, offset by $1,010 event income from sales at Carnival and from history walks).

$1,044 on photocopying (includes printing of history walk program)

$972 on hospitality (for AGM and volunteer recognition events)

$865 on printing of promotional postcards

$687 on Register Now fees (associated with membership and donations via Register Now)

BALANCE

The balance at year end of $447,453.76 represents a gross profit of about $234K on the 2017-18 balance. However when adjusted for pre-commitments (both at the end of 2017-18 and 2018-19), the profit in 2018-19 is about $215K, of which the bequest in 2018-19 contributed $197.6K.

Following is a chart which shows the year-end aggregate balance in ALGA's accounts since 1998, not adjusted for pre-commitments.

Note – there were grant pre-commitments of approx $66K against the balance of $197K in 2016-17, $28.5K against the balance of $213K in 2017-18, and $47,158 in 2018-19

Pre-commitments for 2019-20

The following amounts have been set aside for expenditure in 2019-20:

- $8,110 unexpended portion of $27.5K LGBTI community grant in 2016-17 for delayed expense on business consultancy work and PAYG tax;
- $1K specific purpose donation for poster rehousing in a previous year;
- $38,048 LGBTI community grant 2019-20 for digitisation project

The Archives gratefully acknowledges the following people and organisations for making donations in the 2018-19 financial year. Also, a reminder – donations of $2 or more to ALGA are tax deductible.

MINUTES OF 2018 ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

Draft pending adoption at the 2019 AGM

Held on Wednesday 31 October 2018 at Hares and Hyenas, 63 Johnston St, Fitzroy

Members Present: Geoff Allshorn, Angela Bailey, Claire Flynn, Chris Friday, Jamie Gardiner, Camilla Hannan, Michaela Hart, Nick Henderson, Gary Jaynes, Timothy Jones, Richard Keeble, Caitlin Maher-Gale, Daniel Marshall, Mathew Martini, Tom Moore, Emily O'Donnell, Clare O'Hanlon, Dianne Otto, Richard Peterson, Anton Provan, Sarah Rood, Liz Ross, Kathy Sport, Trevor Sutherland, Graham Willett.

After an acknowledgement of Country by Mama Alto, the meeting was opened at 6.20pm by the chair Angela Bailey, ALGA President.

1. Chairperson to open meeting

Angela welcomed everyone to the AGM and thanked the committee and significant volunteers for their work in getting the AGM up and running in a new venue. Thanked Crusader and the Hares and Hyenas team for providing the venue.

Continuing with her opening address, Angela spoke of the relocation from Claremont St in South Yarra to the new premises and storage facilities. The relocation project was coordinated by Richard Keeble and Kathy Sport and they were thanked and acknowledged for their amazing work. Richard and Kathy produced a comprehensive Relocation Report and an overview can be found in the 2018 Annual Report.

ALGA is continuing its long partnership with Thorne Harbour Health (THH) (formerly VAC) with THH hosting the ALGA operations and part of the collection at 615 St Kilda Rd. This is an interim arrangement until the Victorian Pride Centre (VPC) is built, which is expected to be completed in 2020. Management and processing of the collection for the move is going to help the next time ALGA has to move. The cost of the move was significant and there are ongoing storage costs during this interim phase. ALGA continues to be grateful to members and others for their support financially and in other ways.

2018 is the 40th anniversary of the Archives with some significant celebrations to acknowledge the founding of the Archives in 1978:

Marched at Pride March

Marched at Mardi Gras. Clare Hanlon and Daniel Marshall were thanked for coordinating and the placards around the room

Sold-out History walk at Midsumma

Exhibitions including a partnership with the State Library

Re-printed the Secret Histories publication and a new set of postcards

New logo for 40th year

Angela paid tribute to ALGA founder, Graham Carbery, and acknowledged his significant financial bequest. Graham's generous bequest is an amazing opportunity for ALGA. The Committee will be working with Gary Jaynes into the future on how best to acknowledge Graham's bequest.

Operationally ALGA is settling into the new space and running quite smoothly due to the efforts of the Committee and dedicated volunteers.

Looking forward to the next 12 months:

There will be a planning day on 11 November to develop a strategic plan for next 3 – 5 years

VPC update – completed an MOU, entering into dialogue around the expectations of being a key tenant, including design specifications related specifically to the collection. The Federal government $10m funding announcement was acknowledged. The VPC operations plan has been distributed for feedback over the next 4 weeks.

Equality Department grant – funded the relocation project and to engage a part-time Office Coordinator for next 6 months. Kerry Harris is the new Office Coordinator and was introduced to the meeting.

Operationally – collection management, interim accommodation, collection storage, relationship with VPC, Office Coordinator grant position, GALE digitisation contract, ongoing catalogue Project Monte plus upping the ante in digitising the collection.

Chris Friday was acknowledged for her long term interest and support of the Archives. Moving into 2020/2021 ALGA is to receive a significant donation from Chris and she was invited to speak about her donation and her motivations. Chris spoke about motivation coming from 3 people who have been involved in the Archives for a long time and setting up a project to honour them. The gift of $500,000 will be given over a period of years to start in line with the move into the VPC. It is Chris's wish that the gift to be used on a project and named in honour of The Three G's, Graham Carbery, Gary Jaynes, Graham Willett. Chris was acknowledged with rousing applause. Angela thanked Chris for her generosity and looks forward to working with Chris on the project.

An item that is often discussed at Committee meetings and agreed to be raised at the AGM was changing ALGA's name to something that better reflects the broad diversity of our community. The Committee is not as issue will take lightly, will done in consultation, have been guided by some other organisations such as; VAC to THH, Canadian Gay and Lesbian Archives (CGLA). The Committee are looking to adopt a process similar to the CGLA of consultation period of 12 months and taking the findings to the AGM. The consultation will be with members and significant volunteers and will involve surveys and discussion groups, and engaging as much as possible. There was no motion for this meeting and depending on the outcome of the consultation process, a motion will be put forth at the next AGM. Angela invited questions and comments from the floor. There was a question from the floor on what has the Canadian group decided with the response that they haven't changed their name, however they have changed the spelling of Archives to Arqives with the pronunciation remaining the same. Angela advised that everyone will be kept up to date and involved.

5. Treasurer's Report

Honorary Bookkeeper Gary Jaynes was invited to speak to the Treasurer's report:

The Treasurers Report is on page 15 of Annual Report and Gary directed the meeting to the Summary table on page 15 and noted the following:

Cash – FY16/17: $130k FY17/18: $185k

Relocation was a significant expense in 2017/18

$50k Equality Department grant – $27.5k spent on the relocated and rolled forward $22.5k for the Office Coordinator position

$110k income received with $60k the first instalment of Graham Carbery's generous bequest

Donations income of $28k is consistent with previous years

Membership is growing at an extraordinary rate as referenced by the graph in the report. Over the last ten years it has grown from 100 to 345. Acknowledgement to Trevor Sutherland for coordinating the memberships

Expenses are on page 18 of the Annual Report. The spend of $94k is higher than normal and is mostly related to the relocation and offsite storage. Current indications are a cost of $16.5k for storage in the next financial year

Looking forward and in light of Chris Friday's donation announcement, the Archives is in a position to generate a nest egg and an income stream. There is a need to obtain skills and advice to point the Archives in the right direction. Currently there is $320k invested in low interest term deposits.

Gary thanked Kathy Sport and Richard Keeble for their coordination of the relocation and their significant voluntary contributions, Richard with Project Monte and Kathy with the regular hosting of open days.

Angela thanked Gary for the Treasurers report and called for the report to be approved.
